

CHARLOTTE BIRCH

British Racing Driver

I have been involved in motorsport since a young age, growing up around cars, then finally getting behind the wheel in 2017.

Alongside racing, I have taken up opportunities to progress my career by carrying out work for private clients, driving schools, experience providers and race teams, providing services such as driver coaching, instructing, precision driving and hosting.

I am extremely passionate about what I do, working with many different clients across a number of different industries can always be challenging but it is also extremely rewarding.
